Forecast For London & Southeast England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Wednesday 22 Sep 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Mainly clear skies, misty in places.

This Evening and Tonight:
Patchy cloud overnight but with further clear spells allowing the odd mist and fog patch to reform, especially in rural areas south and west of London. Minimum temperature 10 deg C (50 deg F).

Thursday:
Early cloud and patchy mist and fog soon thinning to leave a dry day with plenty of warm sunshine. Maximum temperature 22 deg C (72 deg F).

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
Friday will be breezy but dry with long sunny spells. Lighter winds on Saturday, more cloud though with isolated showers. Sunday will see sunshine and showers, heavy at times.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.